

Ron Adiel

EVP, Chief Operating Officer

Ron is Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer at Advisen. His primary focus is driving the strategy of Advisen's thriving Data business, fostering product innovation, delivering increased value to customers, and promoting strategic partnerships.

Ron brings more than 20 years of experience in the P&C industry with focus on advanced data analytics. He spent 10 years with AIG P&C in various leadership roles including head of science delivery, business transformation and strategic planning officer. Ron also held additional leadership roles in commercial underwriting and claims. He later joined Guy Carpenter as COO of Analytics, also supporting the strategic advisory InsurTech portfolio. Most recently Ron served as head of data strategy and analytics at Time Inc., and co-founded a data science startup.

Ron holds a PhD in Accounting (Insurance specialization) from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, and a BA from Tel Aviv University.